Overview

In 2014 we had a very successful 1st Keele bariatric symposium attended by nearly 200 delegates.

The aim is to discuss and review the up to date status on Metabolic and Bariatric Surgery. The Symposium is for bariatric surgeons, anaesthetists, endocrinologists, diabetologists, dieticians and bariatric Allied health and practitioners (AHP).

The symposium includes video based discussion of bariatric surgical complications and controversial aspects of management of bariatric surgical patients with end organ failure.

In addition expert review of controversies and rational approach to revisional surgery after failed primary bariatric procedures. Finally a dedicated session on the post-operative nutritional deficiency in terms of vitamins and micro nutrients.
